Turramurra Public School is situated in the upper North Shore area of Sydney, named from the Aboriginal word meaning ‘placed on the hill’. The school is set on very extensive grounds and is a coeducational Kindergarten to Year 6 school.

Turramurra is a family oriented community that respects the value of quality education. The community is very active in their support of school planning and programs. The partnership between the school and parents is highly visible and inclusive.

Turramurra Public School prides itself on the high standard of student behaviour, self-discipline and achievements. Our students perform exceptionally well in many endeavours and their excellent manners are regularly acknowledged by the wider community. The school contributes much of the students’ achievements to collaborative communication, consistent positive practice, extensive opportunities and a nurturing, inclusive school spirit.
