Local area features
Henry Kendall High School is a short walk from Gosford Station, the central train station of the district, and right near the main Eastern Australia train line. The school is only 45 minutes north of Hornsby, one of Sydney’s major suburbs and well-known for its high non-English speaking background communities, particularly Chinese and Korean speakers.

“I commenced my studies at Henry Kendall High School in October 2011. My favourite subject is Mathematics. I am very happy to be a student at Henry Kendall High School and have made many friends. I also find the teaching staff to be very helpful and supportive.”
