Han (Hannah) Liu from the People’s Republic of China completed her Higher School Certificate (HSC) in 2011 at Burwood Girls High School, was dux of her school and received an Australian Tertiary Admission Rank of 99.8.

According to her School Principal, Hannah always demonstrated a responsible and conscientious attitude towards her studies and obtained outstanding results in all her subjects. She was nominated by her School Principal for an Academic Achievement Award.

“The best thing about studying at a NSW Government school is that I got to meet lots of people from different backgrounds, different countries.”

In 2012 Hannah began her tertiary studies. “I got an ATAR of 99.8 and I’m studying Medicine at University of NSW now.”

Sydney is a great study destination for international students. It is one of the top five cities in the world for its high quality health system, innovation, transportation, lifestyle and sustainability (2011 Cities of Opportunity Report).

Published: 4 June 2012